

Eric John Large is from Saddle Lake Cree Nation, 24 kilometers from the University nuhelot'ine thaiyots'į nistameyimâkanak Blue Quills, of which was the former residential school he resided at from 1952-1965. Eric worked in a bank for six years after which he attended the University of Alberta. Eric picked up many jobs along the way including substitute teaching, selling encyclopedias, and supervising youth excursions. Eric served on Chief and Council in Saddle Lake for eighteen years and worked as a Health support worker for nine years, he is now retired from full-time work and can be found at the Blue Quills university giving tours and history of the old residential school.